Dear Tom:

Thank you for providing Envent's unique dual-phase extraction system for pump tests at our site in Morro Bay, California. The system successfully demonstrated removal of free product and soil vapor from several extraction wells at the site. Our preliminary data indicates that this technology is an excellent approach to dual-phase remediation.

Envent Corporation's engineers and technicians provided comprehensive support to the installation and set-up of the equipment and were available for technical support throughout the project. Additionally, your handling of the San Luis Obispo County Air Pollution Control District's authorization simplified our pilot test.

We look forward to working with you again soon.

Sincerely,
