Dear Mr. Kerscher,

Thank you for taking the time out of your very busy day several weeks ago to speak with me about Envent Corporation's safety policies and practices.

I was very happy to learn more about the company's operations at that time and pleased to see how diligently you and your coworkers have been working to ensure that the safety and health of employees remains a priority. Your efforts are to be commended. By maintaining an active Injury and Illness Prevention Program (I.I.P.P.) to prevent injuries to employees, you are directly reducing Envent's workers' compensation costs. I'm sure you will be happy to know that the company's experience modification factor will be dropping another eight points at the January 2010 renewal. It will be going from 72% in 2009, down to 64% in 2010.

Keep up the good work!

Please keep in mind that the State Compensation Insurance Fund continues to offer our policyholder's an assortment of loss control resources free of charge to assist them with their efforts. These resources include ergonomic and industrial hygiene services.

Thanks again for your time and courtesy and I look forward to being of assistance in the future.

Sincerely,

John Pasqualucci
